SALE OF LAWS

The sum of $1,223.03 has been turned over to the State Treasurer from the sale of Maryland Laws and Maryland Reports.

EXCHANGE AND DISTRIBUTION

The desirability of making the State Librarian the exchange agent for all reports of the several state departments, institutions, boards, commissions, etc. would seem desirable as requests for such publications are usually addressed to the "State Librarian," which official seems to be the distributing agent in other states. As they are now distributed, it is often quite difficult for this library to secure one copy of a department report for our files, from our own state.

In my last report I referred to the new stacks in the West rooms, which were made possible through the kindness of Governor Ritchie in allowing this item in his 1929 budget. After the installation of these stacks it was necessary to move a number of the books from the second floor to the third. This was done by moving from the second floor a number of old state papers and congressional records dating as far back as 1774. This gave us much-needed space on the second floor for government publications and has resulted in a more convenient arrangement of the books.

In the Law Library thousands of books have been shifted during the past four years in order to take care of an overcrowded condition. This entailed considerable work but resulted in a more convenient arrangement and a greater facility in handling the books.

Probably the most interesting volume in the Miscellaneous Section of the Library are the old newspapers, and of these by far the most valuable are the old "Maryland Gazette," of which the library has the most complete file in existence, viz: a photostat copy from December 10, 1729, to November 29, 1734, edited by William Parks, Annapolis, and purchased by the Librarian several years ago; and the original copies from 1745 to 1839, edited by Jonas Green and his descendants. From December 25, 1777, to April 30, 1779, there were no issues on account of the Stamp Act, otherwise the set is complete. These volumes—forty in all—were the printer's office file and contain many of his markings. Due to an appropriation in 1931 we were able to have photostat copies made of five of the most used volumes, two of which have been bound and are on the shelves and in use, the three remaining volumes are now at the binders and as soon as received will be placed in use. In this way we are able to remove from circulation the originals, thus preserving them. Eventually we hope to have the complete set photostated and the originals removed from general circulation.

Other interesting old newspapers in the library are: Eighteen volumes of the "Baltimore Daily Gazette, 1829-1837"; three volumes of "The Maryland Republican, Annapolis, 1835-1840"; four volumes of the "Philadelphia Aurora, 1809-1812"; and fifty volumes of the "National Intelligencer, 1808-1852"; a most reliable source of all our information concerning the early congresses and our Government at Washington; six volumes of the "Daily Exchange, Baltimore, 1858-1861"; and four volumes of the Richmond Enquirer, 1823-1830."

During the past year the library has located some additional old Maryland newspapers, which it has endeavored to purchase, and while to date we have not been able to do so, we still have hopes of getting them. These would prove a valuable addition to our old newspapers and it is hoped that the party who owns them can be prevailed upon to sell.

MAPS

One of the most interesting purchases the library has made is that of an old chart of the Chesapeake Bay, dated 1776. This was purchased from a London firm and shows the bay with all the shoals, channels, islands, soundings, sailing marks, etc., as far as the navigable part of the Rivers Patowmack, Patapsco and North East. It was drawn from several draughts made by the most experienced navigators, chiefly those of Anthony Smith, Pilot, of St. Mary's, and compared with the modern surveys of Virginia and Maryland. This map will be framed and hung in the library.

BINDING

An important part of the library work for the past four years has been the binding and repairing of old and valuable books, some of which had become so dilapidated that they were difficult to handle. For the past few years—in fact since the war—the appropriation for binding had been very small and the binding was confined to the law library, but in 1931 we were allowed $1,000 for each of the years 1931 and 1932.

This made it possible to not only bind a number of books in the law library but to do some much-needed binding in the miscellaneous section of the library, and while I feel that a lot has been done in this direction there still remains a great deal to be done before the books are in really good condition. Among the interesting books bound were the Niles' Register dating from 1811 to 1848. This Register covers a period in American political history nowhere else recorded with so much minuteness. The War of 1812, The Florida Black Hawk and other Indian wars, the exploration and settlement of the west, are all treated with great detail. Many important documents relating to the Revolution and all the great speeches in Congress are given in extenso. Since rebinding, these books have been moved from the third to the first floor where the public can have access to them.

In July, 1929, Mr. Frank P. Bassett was appointed to serve as cataloguer and indexer to fill the vacancy made by the death of the late Mr. Kenly. After an illness of three months he died on August 3, 1932, having served faithfully and well for three years. Mr. Nelson J. Molter of Glenburnie, Md., was appointed in September, 1932, to fill the vacancy.

I feel that I cannot conclude this report without expressing my appreciation for the valuable assistance and cordial cheerful support I have at all times received from every member of the Library Committee and the Staff. I also wish to commend to you both Miss Frances B. Wells, Custodian of Works of Reference, and Mr. Nelson J. Molter, Cataloguer and Indexer, through whose splendid cooperation I have endeavored to keep the Library up to a high standard.

Respectfully submitted,

MARY E. SHEARN,
State Librarian.
